Course Title: Psychology and Spirituality

Course Number: T/RS 338Z Date: 2-05-2009

Home Dean: CAS CPS SOM GRAD DHC

Nature of revision:

Old Title: Psychology and Spirituality
New Title: Theology, Psychology, and the Soul

Old description: (prerequisite: PSYC 110) This course explores selected Christian and Buddhist traditions of spirituality as understood by their practitioners and from the perspective of representative theorists or schools of Western psychology. The course concludes by assessing positive and negative aspects of these psychological approaches to understanding and evaluating spiritual experience.

New description: This course will take an interdisciplinary approach as it explores the nature and depth of the human psyche from the perspectives of theology and psychology.

Rationale for
revision:

Course was designed by an instructor (E.S. Steele) who has left the faculty. The description and title need broadening to fit new faculties' syllabi. Since the course in its earlier form was arranged by Steele with Psychology, and included a Buddhist element, the (D) and the Prerequisite (PSYC 110) should be removed.

Will the revision have an impact on the core curriculum? No Yes (indicate impact)

Indicate below the distribution of students the last four times the course was offered

The course has not been offered for the past 5 years.

Indicate below the impact and response of affected programs/concentrations/tracks

The course was initially designed to facilitate exchange between psychology and theology, and so offered new possibilities for psychology students. When the course is offered in the future, the connection between the departments can be revisited.

Will the revisions require allocation/reallocation of University resources?

No Yes (indicate resources needed for revision below)
